Brief about the Company	Onourem is a technology company that aims to improve emotional and mental health through online and offline activities. In today's world, social media often creates a false sense of connection, leading to a decline in emotional well-being. The COVID-19 lockdown has further exacerbated this situation. Research from Harvard emphasizes the significance of meaningful relationships for a happy and fulfilling life, prioritizing quality over quantity. Onourem focuses on nurturing close relationships and promoting healthy social interactions.
